1. RESOURCES AND SUPPORT

★ STATISTICAL CONSULTING CENTRE SHORT COURSES
Statistics for Research Workers course using SPSS
Date: Wednesday, 2 November – Wednesday, 9 November 2016 (6 days)
Do you need to understand statistical ideas and methods to carry out your research? Our practical and comprehensive 6 day course “Statistics for Research Workers” will provide you with the skills you need. Topics include: estimation, hypothesis testing, sample size calculations, ANOVA, regression, inference based on the normal distribution, experimental design and analysis of proportions and more...

Feedback:
‘This course will definitely benefit those who carry out research in all disciplines. As a person who has very little stats knowledge, I’ve found it extremely informative and fascinating. The course is discipline-friendly.’ More information

2. EVENTS, FORUMS, PERFORMANCES, SEMINARS AND EXHIBITIONS

★ VISUALISE YOUR THESIS
Learn to communicate complex research to a general audience and be in the running to win $1,000. Develop your visualisation skills and take the classic conference poster to the next level. The Researcher@Library Week ePoster Competition is your opportunity to show off the WHAT, the HOW and the WHY of your research, encapsulating your thesis in a short, eye-catching digital display. All ePosters will be displayed digitally at both Parkville and Southbank campuses throughout Researcher@Library Week, 22-26 August 2016, and online via a web gallery.
The ePoster competition is sponsored by the University of Melbourne Library, and supported by the Melbourne Engagement Lab and ResBaz.
Further details to come but to register early interest, please email: scieng-lib@unimelb.edu.au.

Competition opens: Monday, 18 July 2016.

Submission deadline: 11:59pm, Sunday 14 August 2016

A poster template, further instructions, and the details of upcoming workshops on how to create an ePoster will be available on the ePoster Competition webpage on Monday July 18: http://library.unimelb.edu.au/research/researcher@library-week/poster-competition

CREW (CREATIVE RESEARCH ETHICS WORKSHOP)
Call for Melbourne-based creative practitioners operating in a university setting (staff researchers and/or research candidates), who are interested in being part of the CREW (Creative Research Ethics Workshop) – a two month workshop series focused on collective, generative experimentation with ethics + creative practice over August and September 2016.

This CREW is part of and will inform an Office of Learning and Teaching project – Developing new approaches to ethics and research integrity training through challenges posed by Creative Practice Research http://idare.vca.unimelb.edu.au. The aim of this research is to develop a robust and innovative ethics culture in creative arts and design practices within University research settings.

The CREW workshop is hosted by RMIT’s AELab – aeLab.org – an RMIT research laboratory dedicated to research as acts of creative occupation.
