Exhibition: Spook Country: A Collaboration by Lyndall Brown/Charles Green and Jon Cattapan

What: Stretching across two Melbourne gallery venues, STATION and ARC ONE Gallery—Spook Country gathers the three year journey of three artists—Jon Cattapan, Lyndell Brown and Charles Green—as the artists encountered the subject-matter of war and peace—looking at the vast globalized networks that support and sustain conflict and, then, at the aftermath of conflict. The three artists share a rare experience as Australian War Artists. In 2007, Lyndell Brown and Charles Green were deployed for six weeks in combat zones and remote military bases (both Australian and U.S. bases) across Iraq, the Gulf and Afghanistan. In 2008, Jon Cattapan was deployed to Timor Leste, as Australia’s 63rd Official War Artist, to work on paintings and drawings alongside Australian Defence Force personnel engaged in peacekeeping operations.

This project was supported under Australian Research Council’s Discovery Projects funding scheme (project number DP110100645).

The artists also acknowledge the support of the Faculty of VCA and MCM and the Faculty of Arts, University of Melbourne.

Exhibiting concurrently:
- ARC ONE Gallery: 20 August – 20 September 2014, 45 Flinders Lane, Melbourne

Journal Article Workshop – A peer run group for RHD students

What: Would you like to get your work into academic journals but are not sure where to start? Do you have a chapter or conference paper that’s ripe for an article? Are you starting to feel the fear about ‘publish or perish’? The Journal Article Workshop is a peer-run group aimed at RHD students and researchers in the humanities and social sciences who have not previously published. Over a semester, it allows you to work towards a finished article, ready to send off to an academic journal. Along the way, you’ll get advice and support from both experienced scholars and your peers. If you have a thesis chapter, conference paper or a draft you’ve been grappling with, the workshop is a great opportunity to revise your work into a completed article. The 'Winter Workshop' will run throughout Semester 2. The first group meeting will be on Monday 4th of August, with final articles due on the 24th of October.

Meetings will be on Mondays at 4:15pm.

Places in the workshop are limited. If you’d like to apply, please complete the following form by July 28th: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/HQK9TBY

For further information, please contact the convenor, Bryonny Goodwin-Hawkins goodwin@unimelb.edu.au

3. Events, Forums, Performances, Seminars and Exhibitions

Exhibition: A Strange Arrangement by Craig Easton

What: Craig Easton’s project takes a sometimes circuitous route through the possibilities for reductive abstract painting as a contemporary visual language. In doing so its mediums are those of video, sound, photography, object making and architectural intervention as much as paint applied to canvas or any other ‘traditional’ support. At the same time a series of formal and conceptual alignments predicated on the unlikely model of Chinese literati gardens drive many of the choices made. In this strange arrangement between diverse modes comes a framing of reductive abstract painting’s potential to operate as immersive form. This exhibition comprises part of the VCA School of Art 2014 PhD Program.

Exhibition dates: Until 17 August, 2014

Gallery Hours: Tuesday to Saturdays 12noon – 5:00pm

Where: Margaret Lawrence Gallery, 40 Dodds Street, Southbank Campus

Exhibition: Transported, by Hartmut Veit, Aaron Martin, Bradley Lay and John Woods

What: Transported takes a moment to step back and contemplate the metaphors of transport and journeys in contemporary society. It explores the links and relationships between art and transport, through video, installation and drawing, including ocean adventures on industrial sized container ships through to stories around handmade canoes. This exhibition includes a curator talk and an accompanying children’s workshop.

Opening Night: Friday 8 August 2014, 6:00pm – 8:00pm

Exhibition dates: 8 August until 28 September 2014

Where: Incinerator Gallery, 180 Holmes Road, Moonee Ponds

Walking into the Bigness at the Malthouse with production design by the Sisters Hayes

What: Walking into the Bigness is written by Richard Frankland and directed by Wayne Blair (director of The Sapphires) and Chris Mead (Literary Director for Melbourne Theatre Company). Walking into the Bigness is Richard’s autobiography depicted by five actors playing different facets of his many eclectic lives. Think the Bob Dylan biopic, I’m Not There. For the last 25 years, Richard has been on the forefront of Indigenous affairs as a Royal Commission Officer investigating Aboriginal Deaths in Custody and as the representative of Victorian native title claims. Throughout his life he’s also been a child abattoir worker, a soldier, a fisherman and an artist.

Where: Malthouse Theatre, 113 Sturt Street, Southbank

★ Arts Dean’s Lecture: Championing the Humanities

What: Dr Robin Jackson, CEO of the British Academy and Faculty of Arts Staff alumnus, will be delivering a Dean’s Lecture on Championing the Humanities. Advocating for the fundamental importance of the Humanities in the twenty-first century is a major higher education and research policy issue. This is particularly relevant in the current Australian political climate. The UK and USA both have a strong history in Humanities advocacy and in this Lecture, Dr Robin Jackson CBE, will review of some of the challenges and issues that face Humanities in these countries. He will provide some reflections on the nature of the study of the Humanities which might explain why those challenges arise; and an illustration of various ways in which they might be addressed, based on recent work of the British Academy and American Academy. Dr Robin Jackson, CBE, has been Chief Executive and Secretary of the British Academy since 2006. He previously held senior positions in a number of national Higher Education agencies in the UK, including the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education, Universities UK and Higher Education Funding Council for England.

6. Profile, Publishing and Exhibiting Opportunities

REMINDER Humanities Graduate Research Conference - Where do we go from here?
What: The Fifteenth Humanities Graduate Research Conference will be held 12 - 14 November 2014, Curtin University, Perth. Call for papers - Where do we go from here? is a question of urgent interest to us in the first decades of the twenty-first century. We invite postgraduate students and early career researchers, from Australia and overseas, and from Humanities disciplines including (but not limited to) social sciences, creative arts, cultural studies, education, and the built environment to present and share ideas on this theme. As well as papers, we also welcome poster presentations, performances and installations. There will also be opportunities to chair sessions and submit a paper for a peer reviewed publication. More information is available on the website.
Applications and deadlines - To submit your abstract/proposal please email wheredowego@curtin.edu.au. All due by Friday 15 August 2014.

REMINDER Call for Papers: Eighth Global Studies Conference
What: The International Advisory Board is pleased to announce the Call for Papers for the Eighth Global Studies Conference. The Global Studies Conference will be held from 20-21 July 2015 at Imperial College London in London, UK. We welcome submissions from a variety of disciplines and perspectives and encourage faculty and students to jointly submit proposals, discussing Global Studies through one of the following themes:
Conference Themes
- Economy and Trade
- Politics, Power and Institutions
- Society and Culture
- Resources and Environment
- 2015 Special Focus: Power and Participation in the Age of the Social Web and Global Data
In addition to the annual themes, the conference will address the special focus—Power and Participation in the Age of the Social Web and Global Data—through keynote speakers, garden sessions, workshops, and parallel sessions. In The New Digital Age: Reshaping the Future of People, Nations and Business, Executive Chairman of Google Eric Schmidt and Director of Google Ideas Jared Cohen present a bold vision for the digital age. At the heart of their vision is the project of "full connectivity" (Schmidt 2013 p. 34). For Schmidt and Cohen, the project of "full connectivity" engenders the promise of more efficient markets, increased productivity, and useful tools for enlarged democratic action. Within this context, Schmidt and Cohen claim that the Internet is a historically specific social, political, and economic phenomenon. The Internet, they argue, "could ultimately be seen as the realization of the classic international relations theory of an anarchic, leaderless world" (Schmidt 2013 p. 83). The special focus of the 2015 Global Studies Conference centers on their claim and presents the following questions: how do we make sense of this "leaderless world?" What can the digital age and its communication technologies teach us about the future of order in global life?
Conference Date: 22 – 24 July, 2015
Conference Location: Imperial College, London, United Kingdom
Deadline for abstracts/proposals: 19 August 2014
Further information: http://artsinsociety.com/the-conference/call-for-papers
Call for Papers: Journal of American Studies Eurasian Perspective

What: The Journal of American Studies: Eurasian Perspectives is an interdisciplinary platform that publishes articles representing a wide range of academic disciplines, including sociology, history, political science, literature, cultural and gender studies and a variety of research methods. The quick (30 days) and double blind review process, rich editorial board, zero tolerance for plagiarism and high respect for publication ethics, a strong commitment for scheduled publication are the key features of the Institute’s journals. The Journal of American Studies: Eurasian Perspectives (JASEP) is an international peer-reviewed journal, published semi-annually. The Institute of Language and Communications Studies and Macro World Publishing jointly edit the journal. It invites research on the topics of American literature, art and humanities including U.S. culture and literature, socio-linguistics, migration to U.S., feminism, socio-cultural approaches to American life, social problems and social changes, human rights, ethnic and racial studies, terrorism and public service. Its main focus, however, is on the various European and Asian perspectives on these issues. JASEP publishes both in online and print version. The journal accepts online submissions only.

For more information, visit the official website of the journal: www.jasep.macroworldpub.com
Submission deadline for full paper: 30 August, 2014.

Call for Papers: Eighth International Conference on the Inclusive Museum

What: The International Advisory Board is pleased to announce the Call for Papers for the Eighth International Conference on the Inclusive Museum. The Museum Conference will be held from 7-9 August 2015 at the National Science Center of India in New Delhi, India. We welcome submissions from a variety of disciplines and perspectives and encourage faculty and students to jointly submit proposals, discussing museums through one of the following themes:

- Visitors
- Collections
- Representations
- 2015 Special Focus: Museums as Civic Spaces

Proposal Submission and Deadlines: The current review period closing date for the latest round of submissions to the Call for Papers (a title and short abstract) is 11 September 2014. Please visit our website for more information on submitting your proposal, future deadlines, and registering for the conference. If you are unable to attend the conference, you may still join the community and submit your article for peer review and possible publication, upload an online presentation, and enjoy subscriber access to The International Journal of the Inclusive Museum.
