★ Australia Council ArtStart Grants: Client Meetings
What: ArtStart offers up to $10,000 for recent arts graduates, to help the challenging transition from studying to having a professional career in the arts. The grant is open to individual artists that have completed an accredited Certificate IV creative arts course or higher in the past three years - or are about to complete one - and are carving out their career in any of the Australia Council supported artforms. The grant can assist by funding services, resources, skills development and/or equipment to help you build an income-generating career in the arts practice studied. Potential applicants that have always wanted to take some time to discuss their application in person with a member of the Early Career Artists and Producers team are in luck! We are out and about in early 2014 to answer your questions about ArtStart, in Melbourne on Thursday 6 February 2014.
Bookings: d.ryding@australiacouncil.gov.au to book a 20 minute appointment. Spaces are limited.
5. Conferences

Queensland Conservatorium Griffith University: ‘Music, Mayhem and Change’

What: The QCRC Postgraduate Symposium welcomes proposals for its inaugural symposium. Music, Mayhem and Change takes its inspiration from the 50th anniversary of the Beatles tour of Australia and is an opportunity for HDRs and ECR’s to present on any aspect of music scholarship. Papers are now being accepted for the strands of Technology, Pedagogy, Music Culture and Society, Music Psychology/Health, Music Industry, and Performance. The Symposium is peer-reviewed and written papers can be submitted for consideration to the peer-reviewed edited conference proceedings (deadline, July 2014), and performances will be considered for a proposed peer-reviewed website/DVD. This year’s symposium is in conjunction with the MSA, Queensland Chapter Student Symposium and student presentations will be eligible for the MSAQ Gordon Spearritt prize.

Symposium Dates: 9-10 June 2014

Please submit a 300 word abstract of your proposal (paper, panel or performance) to: QCRCPostgradSymposium-group@griffith.edu.au

Ninth Spectres of Evaluation Conference 2014: Rethinking Art / Community / Value

What: Join us on the banks of the Maribyrnong River at Footscray Community Arts Centre in Melbourne, Australia. This international arts conference is presented by The Centre for Cultural Partnerships, VCA & MCM, University of Melbourne & Footscray Community Arts Centre. Today, the making of art is haunted by spectres of evaluation, with competing claims and judgments about the limits, uses, and value of art. This international conference examines creative and critical approaches to evaluation and value in relation to community-engaged arts practice. Taking its cue from the artwork Spectre of Evaluation (Thomas Hirschhorn, 2008) www.e-flux.com/announcements/art-and-politics-as-usual, the conference looks to reconfigure the relationship between artists, art experts, and what the artist terms the “non-exclusive audience.” This conference marks the culmination of a 3 year Australian Research Council-funded Linkage project “Towards an Integrated Approach for Evaluating Community-based Arts” with investigators Dr Lachlan MacDowall (University of Melbourne), Dr Martin Mulligan (RMIT University), Frank Panucci (Australia Council for the Arts) and Dr Marnie Badham as Research Fellow (University of Melbourne).

Conference Dates: 6 February - 7 February 2014

Humanities Research Centre, ANU: History, Cinema, Digital Archives Conference

What: Since the advent of cinema in the mid-1890s, a series of developments has reconfigured visual reproduction in terms of screens, projection methods, architectural spaces of exhibition, and the economics and sociability of viewing. There have been intense moments of rupture when new configurations have superseded old: corporate management overwhelming small-time entrepreneurs; synchronised talking pictures eradicating silent; multiplexes engulfing single-screen venues; intimate viewing displacing public; digital formats driving out film. In the early decades of the 21st century, it is the last of these, still underway, which compels notice and focuses attention on the future of infinitely morphing platforms. But let us not forget the screen’s past and the effect of the digital revolution on research into its history. Cultural and film historians, archivists and visual creators are all exercised by the spectre of dead media and the enchantment of new insights and methodologies.
• How is historical research on cinema and visual culture changing as it confronts the deluge of readily accessible digitised material that once were films, newspapers, magazines, ephemera? What are the new research agendas?
• Has the digital revolution affected the history of the visual culture of modernity, by analogy or substantively?
• What are the consequences of researching virtual rather than original material?
• What is at stake for film archives’ custodianship of visual heritage faced with increasing demands for (selective) digital access, copyright restrictions, and always limited finance?
• What is the significance for the historian of the distinction between the digitised and non-digitised film/document/artefact?” And what is the status for the archivist of the original after digitisation?
