1. Resources and Support

★ Research Integrity Training - RIOT
What: Research Integrity Online Training - RIOT is part of Graduate Research Student Candidature Confirmation process. RIOT is the University’s research integrity online training community that is available to all University staff and students. Complete RIOT now, provide feedback, and win prizes! RIOT covers the basic principles of research integrity and their application to the planning, conducting and reporting of research. RIOT also presents other aspects of the responsible conduct of research including human research ethics, the care and use of animals in research, and the broad societal responsibilities of research. RIOT is made up of five discipline-based courses, a number of mini-quizzes that test your knowledge, a list of research integrity resources, and one RIOT Quiz. In order to successfully complete RIOT you need to pass the RIOT Quiz.

Complete RIOT to have the opportunity to win prizes! Details and terms and conditions will be announced in early 2016.

How do I access RIOT?
RIOT is an online community available through the Learning Management System. Simply log into the LMS then click here and press 'submit'. Congratulations, you can now access the RIOT community!

How do I use RIOT?
There are two main components to RIOT. Firstly, complete a course by selecting the field most closely related to you. Course content is tailored to your area of research.
